

How it works

Aplos NCA operates based on API calls for specific activities. These API calls can be integrated into other applications, or used directly in coding environments. The key API calls and their inputs and outputs are outlined below.

Additional API calls are available for making changes to a user account creation of a user and more.